Bloodmobile Is 100% Success; 141 Volunteers Give 125 Pints

Dr. A. A. Fratrick, chairman of the county's blood program announced Tuesday that Monday's Bloodmobile was a "one hundred percent success" with 125 pints of blood donated. The county needed exactly this amount to keep up with its quota of 96 pints each visit during the three-visits each year of the Red Cross Bloodmobile. Fifty- nine pints were donated in October.

Dr. Fratrick said that particular thanks go first to "all the persons who donated blood", and then to the many persons "who spent many hours helping conduct the program and in many cases, volunteered blood, also."

Twenty donors went home with new Kennedy half-dollars thanks to the generosity of a grateful county resident, Mr. Willis Inge, who used this as a "thank you" for blood he has used.

A free dinner at the Casa D'Italia was awarded Mrs. William Ayres by the management of the restaurant, Pat Volturo and Jerry George.

Next visit of the Bloodmobile will be in May, said Dr. Fratrick, with at least 86 pints of blood needed to keep this county "100 percent" of quota.

Ask Wayside For Appomattox

Feasibility of a new wayside park, including sanitary rest facilities to be located near the Appomattox Surrender Grounds is being studied by engineers of the State Highway Department, according to John H. Phillips, Lynchburg District highway engineer.

The plan would be to establish a large facility near the intersection of Rt. 24 — which runs past the surrender grounds—and U. S. 460 in Appomattox.

William C. Vaughan, president of the Appomattox Heritage Corp., made the request of Lynchburg Highway Commissioner Lawrence H. McWane.

Vaughan said the organization passed a resolution, Wednesday Jan. 20, seeking to have the state supply such a rest facility near the surrender park before the 100th anniversary gets under way.

McWane said the request has been turned over to John E. Harwood, chief engineer for the highway department.

McWane said after the cost and other data are obtained and the project appears to be feasible, a formal request will be made to the State Highway Commission.
